The Bankruptcy Lawyer's Guide To Saving Money

How to Find Genuine Deals Online (instead of scams and time wasters)

Everyone loves a deal. Buying something at a discount feels like winning. Not only do you get the thing you want, but you pay less than other people who bought it! (You hope.) Online shopping allows you to quickly price shop and compare. But there are so many places to buy from, it's hard to sort through the options—and even harder to know if you're really getting a deal or just being scammed. Luckily, there are a number of great deal-finding websites and blogs online that do nothing but hunt and post the best deals every day. Start your search with these, and you may save time as well as money.

Kiplinger's has done a lot of the homework for you, with this list of the best deal sites. Says Kiplinger's, "Our favorite is DealNews.com, which has a team of deal hunters who keep their eyes on a million products at more than 2,000 reputable online retailers and update the site with new deals at least 200 times a day."

You may already know that online retailers can be sneaky. With tricky tactics like dynamic pricing (when they offer the same items to customers for different prices based on an individual customer's shopping history), avoiding extra charges can take some real savvy. Forbes has some pro-tips for serious bargain hunters. Consider this one:

Leave items in your cart. Log in to your account, place your desired items in the cart and then just let it sit. Retailers want to close the deal, so they'll find ways to draw you back. In a few days you may get an email with a coupon or an offer for a better price.

But absolutely no deal is worth the discounted price, if you don't get what you thought you were buying.

Infographic Of The Month

The Real Housewives of Bankruptcy

In the month of May we celebrate Mother's Day, to honor the first woman in our life: our mom! I created this infographic because good looks and good marriages don't always protect you (or your mom) from bad planning in the unforgiving boutique of finance.

Overspending, gross mismanagement and blind greed plundered the fortunes of these seven Housewives who seemed to have it all. Some, like Michaela Salahi and Taylor Armstrong, became enmeshed in their husbands' fraudulent schemes, while others, like Alexis Bellino and Jacqueline Laurita, were undone by their lust for extravagant homes.

Video Of The Month

"We filed bankruptcy to stop a wage garnishment but it's still going on after I filed the bankruptcy. Is something wrong?"

Unfortunately human resources, payroll departments, and creditors they don't move as quickly as we want them to move after you file the bankruptcy. So sometimes if there's a wage garnishment in place and the payroll company or the payroll department has it set up to withdraw that amount from your paycheck every time you get paid it might take one, two, or three, or maybe even four although I don't usually see that long pay periods before they fix it and get it right. That's the bad news.

The good news is every penny of that money that has been paid over to creditors or withheld from your check can be recovered as an unauthorized post-bankruptcy transfer. It's inconvenient especially if you're living paycheck to paycheck to file the bankruptcy and have the garnishment continue, but it will get fixed though it might just take a little time."

What Our Clients Are Saying...

Aquiles had these very kind words to say about our team:

"Ms. Katherine Leeper worked on my case to the end with great determination and enthusiasm. I would like to extend my gratitude and appreciation to the whole team and staff. The court Judge looked at my case with a keen eye, but could not find a glitch or gap on the paperwork presented to him for review and for a final decision. Overall it was a solid and airtight case. (This came with expertise, knowledge, character, and honesty, above all.)

When you took over the case, I thought that it was going to be accomplished; the outcome was beyond my imagination. I am now free of debts which surpassed 100K. Thank you and special thanks to Ms. Leeper for her indefatigable and unweaving attention to details.

I can honestly recommend your firm to my friends and family with the same enthusiasm that your firm accepted this case. I am not a person who is easily convinced and a hard person to please. Your grade if mean anything to you, it sure means a lot to me. You will find your grade listed in the next line below.
